All medical disciplines are not created equal. Therefore, specialty practices depend on specific sets of orders and workflows that make sense to their field of medicine, and more importantly, how they individually operate.

GE Healthcare’s Centricity Practice Solution (CPS) is a fully integrated EHR and Practice Management system designed to enhance the clinical and financial productivity of your ambulatory practice. When you integrate CPS with Rosch Visionary’s allergy and immunology platform, you have access to a new layer of workflow capabilities and flexibility that drives practice performance.

Allergy Content

We have partnered with allergy professionals to develop allergy clinical content forms that enhance the use and delivery of patient data. Allergists are able to utilize an array of fields documenting allergy-specific patient symptoms within the EHR.

Furthermore, simplify data entry and gain greater efficiency by having the field values within the EHR auto-populate between patient visits.

Reduce Time and Expenses

Streamline tasks with a couple clicks of the mouse. Combining functionality between systems certainly reduces navigation, time and money.

Our EHR integration with Rosch’s immunology system is a one-step process, allowing fluid mobility during the patient encounter and providing a comprehensive clinical assessment.

Meet Regulatory Compliance

Certified for today’s industry standards, Centricity supports and manages Meaningful Use (MU) and ICD-10 compliance.

Technology that keeps you compliant is a necessity not only to the lifeline of your practice, but also, to quality-driven patient outcomes

Stay abreast of change and improve healthcare delivery by using certified technology designed to fit your specific needs. ◆
