

CentriView

CentriView further enhances the GE Healthcare Centricity™ Solution by adding even more innovative design to simplify your laboring tasks.

Benefits & Value

- ◆ Simultaneously view internal and external attachments on the same screen
- ◆ Easily locate images by type or date
- ◆ Customized views are integrated with EMR content
- ◆ Effectively manage your time and efforts finding key images that support your findings within a few clicks of the mouse
- ◆ Simply print hard copies of all selected images

We understand that clinicians need access to important information quickly and conveniently, which is the reason we have created efficient software modules like CentriView.

This application enables providers to review multiple images within a patient's electronic chart all in one location. Unlike some other image viewing programs offered in today's market, CentriView is unique because it allows the user to view internal images saved within the EMR as well as external images stored out in the network all at the same time.

Providers will now be able to analyze changes over the course of time by reviewing developmental images side by side. To quicken image searches, the provider can search by date to locate a specific image or images he/she needs to view. Having the ability to customize views along with EMR content lends great support and convenience while working inside the chart. The provider can simply click on the image to zoom in, zoom out or to expand the image to full view.

Advancing healthcare through technology is our expertise. We are pleased to develop additional tools to expedite searches for clinicians to capture critical information effortlessly. ◆
